5. Next Big Innovation Lab

Next Big Innovation Lab is a forward thinking startup one that focuses on an interdisciplinary approach to medical, pharmaceutical and biomedical issues. We look to develop high precision 3D bio-printers and bring to market associate products that enable fabrication of complex functional tissue and organs. Through this endeavor we look to solve India's unmet organ transplant woes while making inroads in the pharmacogenomics/personalized medicine space.

To ensure long term sustainability of the company towards achieving functional 3D bioprinted organs, our business model ensures commercialization potential at every stage of research and development in the untapped medico-pharmaceutical, healthcare, education and R&D markets.

Our core group has a strong technical background and industry experience in 3D printing, engineering, biotechnology, drug delivery, IT and sales. With the limited market research and IP analysis, we believe we have a potentially disruptive product that could change the way we approach R&D and medicine. Our key approach is to gain a holistic, greater understanding of the current market, the final benefactors/consumers of our potential technology from the get go to ensure a perfect product consumer fit. A potential collaboration with a partner in Big Pharma to validate our printer platform with their technology is coming together. We are currently in the process of accelerating the prototyping and validation of our product.

Being selected under Startup enables us to fund development and validation of our commercializable short term goals namely our first prototype of our 3D bioprinter and its associate products.

6. Advance Solar Harvesting Agency

At Advance Solar Harvesting Agency, we believe that an energy revolution is about to hit humanity in the form of harnessing solar energy. At this very moment 10,000 times solar energy is hitting the earth surface, than what is consumed by everyone on earth. Solar energy is clean, abundant and is also becoming affordable day-by-day. The Performance to Price Ratio of Solar generation is on a constant rise. Since 1977, when pv-cell technology was available for the first time, solar generation was $76 per watt. And today in 2016 it is $0.3 per watt. And we believe because of this exponential pace, solar will become the primary energy choice of Indians. At Advance Solar Harvesting Agency we are striving to make solar the primary energy source for India by 2025.

Advance Solar Harvesting Agency has already started operations. Our team has the right mix of real-world experience and technical knowledge about solar energy generation. We are setting up solar panels for clients in 3 locations and have MOUs for the same. We are also expecting bulk orders for solar lighting solutions and we are planning to set up research & manufacturing facility for manufacturing solar lights in large quantities.

Making solar the primary mode of energy generation in India is a great opportunity as well as a daunting task in front of us. And we believe that to make this happen would require both technical as well as business model innovations. Here are some of the technical and business model innovation opportunities we have identified:

- Solar Lighting Solution
- Hybrid Inverter System

- Energy Storage facilities (& devices) for the Grid
- Zero Interest Loan for Solar Panel
- Micro Energy Generation Plant

We believe that Startup India Initiative is apt for fast growing companies like Advance Solar Harvesting Agency. We believe that being a part of the Startup India Centre at IIITDM would not only provide us much needed research & development support, but also position our firm as credible & innovative.

7. Wollof Design

Wollof Design is collaboration between like-minded industrial design, User experience design, engineering graduates to contribute to the world of tomorrow by design and engineering. The objective of wollof design is to provide economically, socially, and ecologically viable modern design solution for various sectors e.g. Healthcare, Agriculture, independent living, etc. With the help of design interventions in various domains of the industry, we would like to make the product competitive enough to achieve sustainable growth.

Our strategic model of design intervention, where a solution to an existing design problem is diagnosed and remedial steps suggested by a multidisciplinary team of design experts. In this model, the value additions to an idea or a concept are imparted through interaction and at a lesser cost to a particular industry/sector. It applies to sectors such as Micro and Small Scale Manufacturing, where a conventional model of design consultancy and training is not often affordable. This model brings design exposure to the doorstep of industry clusters and helps in design improvement, evaluation, and analysis and adopting long-term consultancy/design related interventions. Thus, we provide a mechanism where design solutions are made available to the design problems of products/services, and for concepts and ideas that are brought in for design analysis and scrutiny. Here, flexible and strategic solutions are made available to provide value addition through synergies and matured options as a solution to design problems.

8. Agriculture Machine System Design (AMSD)

Today, India is the fastest growing major economy in the world; by its large population side it has huge market size, industry, export and import. As we scratch vanish the surface we still find in India a land of 100's of thousands of villages with millions of farmer putting their heart and sweat to contribute to this growth story. Agriculture still employs more than half of Indian youth and contributes a significant portion of Indian GDP. Unfortunately agriculture today one of the slowest developing sector due to various of reasons.

Considered the above reasons, we are working on the development of an agricultural tool and machine systems that are suited to various Indian condition, cost efficient and easy to use for our farmer.

9. Emnicent Design

Emnicent design is looking forward to bringing new experiences to the Indian market with products, services, and spaces that will touch Indian lives, inspired by Indian culture and living to enhance one's lifestyle.

The presentation will outline the current state of India, where it is headed in the next ten years, and how various trends will change the market, we intend to penetrate. After the justification of the patterns, expectancy of returns, the product concepts, and service models would be discussed.

The initial product lineage would be focused on home automation and security for enhancing Indian lifestyle and providing a flexible and easy to use platform wherein they can monitor the space and environment they are living in with prospects of self-evolving products

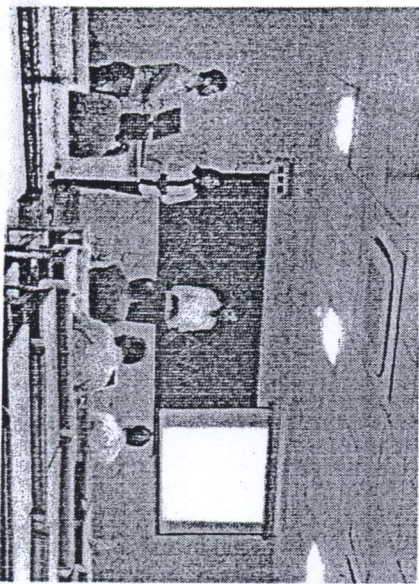

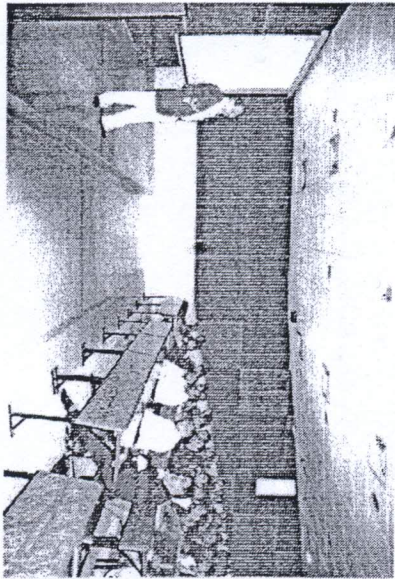

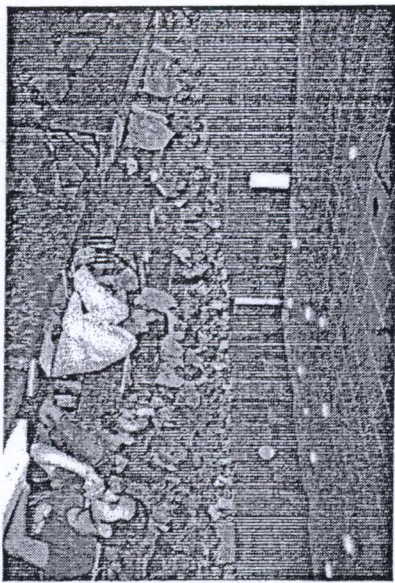

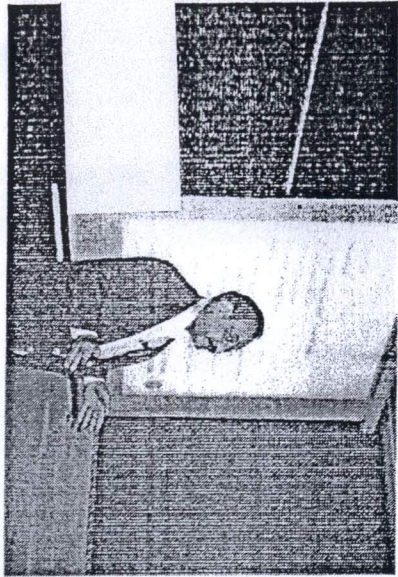

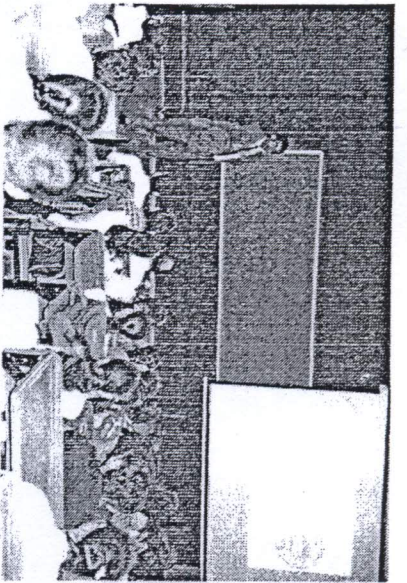

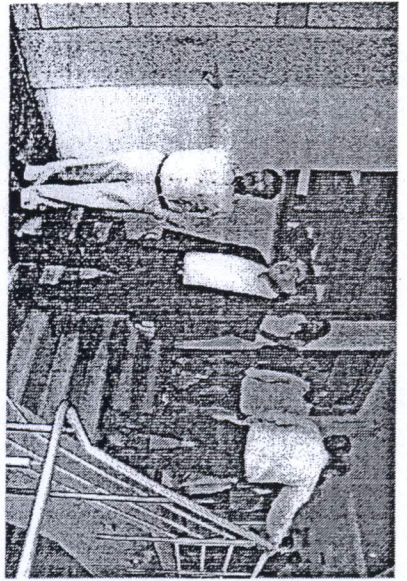

The current status of prototyping, testing and development of various products under Emnicent design would also be discusses along with probable future scope. "

10. Easyshop 30

Online market share is only concentrated to the metro-cities and modern urban areas of India, which promises to be the country with the largest GDP by volume in the coming decades. India is a country in which approximately two-thirds of the population still lives in villages (rural areas) and in which the consumption of FMCG is around 60% of total sales, but still no e-commerce Company has successfully entered or made significant investment.

The goal of our start-up is to empower middle and low class society in rural India by connecting them to e-commerce channels.

Our mission is to provide the lower/middle class (economically) and less endowed people with benefits of e-commerce platforms, as well as lower rates on packaged grocery and everyday products (FMCG), which we wish to attain by reducing the levels of distributors in the supply-chain, along with an online auctioning platform for selling and buying (vegetables and pulses) for farmers to support their incentive in terms of profit.
